'I Love Lucy' and 'The Dick Van Dyke Show' make holiday returns again

By Jay Bobbin

Lucy Ricardo and Rob Petrie have joined the list of holiday-season television staples also including Rudolph, Frosty and Charlie Brown.

Classic, colorized episodes of "I Love Lucy" and "The Dick Van Dyke Show" now fuel annual CBS specials, and the latest versions air Friday, Dec. 14. The episodes are intact from their original showings, though they initially were produced in — and broadcast in — black-and-white.

"The I Love Lucy Christmas Special" starts with a story familiar to anyone who has seen earlier versions — and to many people who were watching TV on Christmas Eve in 1956. "The Christmas Episode" always is the first half of the "Lucy" yuletide-special hour, with clips from previous tales illustrating how different life became for Lucy and Ricky (Lucille Ball, Desi Arnaz) after son Little Ricky (Keith Thibodeaux, aka Richard Keith) was born.

Don't worry, "Lucy" fans: Neighbors and friends Fred and Ethel Mertz (William Frawley, Vivian Vance) are on hand, too, helping the Ricardos decorate their holiday tree while recalling times gone by.

The adult characters also are present in the episode that serves as this year's companion piece in the "Lucy" Christmas special, "Pioneer Women." The ladies engage in a bet with their husbands over who can last the longest without modern conveniences (or as modern as they were in the early 1950s) ...one byproduct being one of the longest loaves of bread ever seen on the home screen. Or anywhere else, for that matter.

(Worth mentioning: It wasn't a prop. It was quite real, and it was divvied up after the filming for the cast, crew and audience. If you see "Hunk of Stale Bread From 'I Love Lucy'" on an Internet auction site, don't scoff.)

In the "The Dick Van Dyke Show — Now in Living Color!" hour that follows, the two stories aren't necessarily seasonal, but they were chosen by series creator (and, as Alan Brady, sometimes co-star) Carl Reiner to represent what he believes to be Van Dyke at his best. Reiner also wrote both, the first of which is 1961's "Where Did I Come From?" with that question from young Richie (Larry Mathews) prompting related memories from Rob and Laura Petrie (Van Dyke, Mary Tyler Moore).

Then, "Never Bathe on Saturday" (first shown in 1965) finds Laura in a decidedly Lucy-like predicament ... with her toe getting stuck in a bathtub spout while she and Rob are on their second honeymoon. Since the bathroom door is locked, Rob can't get in to free her.

Consider the return of Ball and Van Dyke and company to CBS' primetime lineup a holiday gift once again, then. And chances are very good it won't be the last time.

Implosion at the MOT: A Sign of Bayonne's Progress

On Friday morning, November 30, City of Bayonne officials joined with Lincoln Equities and the media to witness the implosion of the smokestack and water tower at the former Military Ocean Terminal (MOT). It was exciting to experience this moment of Bayonne history. Along with the demolition of old military warehouses, the implosion helped to clear the way for the construction of a new state-of-the-art Lincoln Logistics Center. That new business operation will provide more than 2,700 jobs at full build-out. Construction is expected to start on the logistics center next year.

The implosion event symbolized Bayonne's recent progress. Back in 1999, the Defense Department held a ceremony closing the Military Ocean Terminal. The property was turned over to the City of Bayonne. Unfortunately, a series of lawsuits and other obstacles held up redevelopment of the property for years. My Administration settled the various lawsuits, and has designated several redevelopers for the military terminal. Now, construction is underway on several residential and commercial developments at the former base. There will also be some mixed-use developments that will combine commercial and residential spaces in the same buildings. Construction of the Costco store is making rapid progress. It is expected to open in the first half of 2019. There will also be a Starbucks coffee shop nearby. Construction of a ferry terminal on the southern side of the former MOT is on the way.

We look forward to the day when the former Military Ocean Terminal (Peninsula at Bayonne Harbor) is a vibrant quarter of Bayonne that offers attractive residential and economic opportunities to thousands of people. It has been very satisfying to take many of the steps needed to bring this goal closer to reality.

By Tony Rizzo
HOLLYWOOD — "Breaking Bad," considered one of the best series of all time, is becoming a film franchise for 20th Century Fox. Creator and executive producer Vince Gilligan will direct the original cast, which also will include characters from the prequel "Better Call Saul." The series starring Brian Cranston ran from 2008-2013 and won 16 Emmy Awards.
Does Sylvester Stallone sleep? In addition to the just released "Creed II," which reunites him with Michael B. Jordan, and "Back Trace," with Matthew Modine and Christopher McDonald (due Dec. 14), he's creating "Rambo V: Last Blood" (coming in 2019) and starring in "Escape Plan 3: Devil's Station," with Dave Bautista and Curtis "50 Cent" Jackson.
"The Theory of Everything" Oscar-winner Eddie Redmayne will play Tom Hayden (activist, founder of Students for a Democratic Society and former husband of Jane Fonda, when she was an activist). Aaron Sorkin wrote and will direct Redmayne and Sasha Baron Cohen, who plays Abby Hoffman.

The Christmas push begins Nov. 30 with the new animated holiday film "Elliott: The Littlest Reindeer," about a reindeer who sets out to replace the retiring Blitzen in Santa's reindeer crew. Voices include Josh Hutcherson, John Cleese, Martin Short, Jeff Dunham and Samantha Bee.

Sylvester Stallone

A different kind of holiday offering drops Dec. 7. "Ben Is Back" is about a yule homecoming, with Julia Roberts as the mother of Lucas Hedges, who is fighting substance abuse. Peter Hedges, who wrote "What's Eating Gilbert Grape" and "About a Boy," among other films, directs Julia, Courtney B. Vance and his son, Lucas.

Former star of TV series "Hercules," Kevin Sorbo, who seemed to disappear from TV and films, is co-starring with his wife, Sam, and Patrick Muldoon, as they tell the story of a 9-year-old girl and her 11-year-old brother as they try to save a secret beach and reunite a dolphin with its family.
The CBS series "Alice" (1976-85), which starred Linda Lavin, who took over for Ellen Burstyn in her Oscar-winning role in "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore" (1974), is being rebooted by Fox TV. "Juno" Oscar-winning screenwriter Diablo Cody and Liz Astroff of "2 Broke Girls" will write and exec produce the series.
The landmark CBS Television City is up for sale for a mere $700 million. Among the shows that taped there were "All In the Family," "The Carol Burnett Show," the soap operas "The Young and the Restless" and "The Bold and the Beautiful," as well as "Sonny & Cher," "The Price Is Right" and currently "The Late, Late Show With James Corden" and HBO's "Real Time With Bill Maher," to name some. Are we going to get malled again? ... there goes the neighborhood!

Netflix's 'Springsteen on Broadway' an intimate, revealing performance

By George Dickie

If you're like 95 percent of the country and don't get to Broadway like you used to — or at all — then you've obviously missed the critically acclaimed one-man show put on by Bruce Springsteen for the past 14 months at the Jujamcyn's Walter Kerr Theatre. But this week, that changes — provided you have a Netflix subscription.

In "Springsteen on Broadway," which streams Saturday, Dec. 15, the same night as the show's final performance, the man known as "The Boss" gives an intimate account of his life through a series of monologues mixed with an acoustic set of favorites such as — according to reviews — "Born to Run," "Thunder Road," "Dancing in the Dark," "Brilliant Disguise" and "The Ghost of Tom Joad."

It was one of the toughest tickets to get on the Great White Way, with performances sold out from its opening in October 2017 and seats going for thousands of dollars. But by all accounts, the show was one for ages.

So if you're one of the many who can't wait for

Friday to catch this historic show, here are a number of options on streaming to tide you over:

"Bruce Springsteen: Video Biography" (Amazon): Rare footage of live performances mixed with critical analysis of his music endeavor to define what has made Bruce Springsteen such a musical icon.

"Bruce Springsteen in His Own Words" (Sundance Now): This 2016 documentary traces Springsteen's life from his formative years to global superstardom and features rare and unseen footage of the legendary rocker on and off stage.

"The 25th Anniversary Rock & Roll Hall of Fame Concerts" (Amazon): Originally broadcast on HBO in 2009, this landmark concert at New York's Madison Square Garden features a laundry list of rock luminaries, including Simon & Garfunkel, Aretha Franklin, Stevie Wonder, Crosby, Stills and Nash, U2 and, of course, Springsteen and the E Street Band.

"Springsteen & I" (Netflix): From the U.K. comes this 2013 documentary by and for fans of "The Boss" that examines his enduring popularity and features never-before-seen concert footage.

"Bruce Springsteen: Glory Days" (Amazon): Yep, it's the 1985 music video that shows Springsteen and the E Street Band in their element, performing this cut from the "Born in the USA" album in a bar.
