'Jane the Virgin' begins victory lap with final-season premiere

By Jay Bobbin

Parting truly can be sweet sorrow, if "Jane the Virgin" is any indication. Title star Gina Rodriguez and executive producer Jennie Snyder Urman barely can keep their eyes dry in talking about the fifth and final round of their

CW series, which begins Wednesday, March 27. It will end the show at an even 100 episodes, and Rodriguez takes pride not only in the path she's traveled with her character, but in what she believes "Jane" has meant on a larger scale.

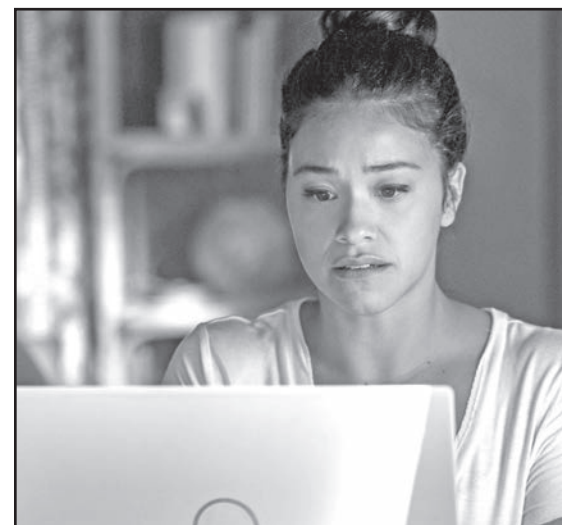

"I do believe that 'Jane' helped me accomplish that part of me that didn't see my community reflected on screen in a positive light," the actress reflects, "but what I realized was that I needed to shift my energy and learn about the spaces in which I could really create change, the kind of change that I think does make a young child feel capable and worthy and valued. I've been able to see where I can use my creativity in other spaces directing, producing, and hopefully doing for someone else what Jennie did for me. And that's what I've learned most, how to create opportunity."

Urman recalls that "around the second year" of "Jane," "(CW chief) Mark Pedowitz said, 'The show will go as long as the story goes' ... which was a gift that, when you work in TV, you don't often get. And I was really grateful. I knew then it was, like, four or five seasons. And then it felt like five seasons would get (in) all of the stories, and that we would be able to reach the ending and plan for a long time for it, which was really a gift."

Even as the finale of "Jane the Virgin" approaches, the saga may not be over completely. One of the shows being considered by The CW for next season is "Jane the Novela," an anthology that would be fueled by stories written by the character Jane — and it might feature Rodriguez, an executive producer of the project along with Urman, as its narrator.

Following her first turn as a movie lead in the recent melodrama "Miss Bala," Rodriguez reflects, "If I am blessed enough to continue to act and to do it in spaces like the ones Jennie has created for me, I would be a very, very lucky human being. So, we'll see what life holds."

"I'll keep working hard and we'll see how my journey opens up," adds Rodriguez, "but I definitely want to keep acting. I do want to create opportunities for others that means a lot to me and (after doing so on three 'Jane' episodes and also on 'Charmed') definitely to direct."

Gina Rodriguez begins the fifth and final season of "Jane the Virgin" Wednesday on The CW.

Wild child leads chase across Europe in Amazon's 'Hanna'

By George Dickie

Hanna is a young woman who's been on the run her entire life.

As played by Esme Creed-Miles ("Dark River") in the Amazon actioner "Hanna," which begins streaming Friday, March 29, she's a 15-year-old raised in total seclusion in the remote Eastern European woods by her mercenary father, Erik Heller (Joel Kinnaman, "The Killing"), and trained to fight those who hunt them.

Her survivalist skills come to the fore when she and Dad are discovered by rogue CIA operative Marissa Wiegler (Mireille Enos, "The Catch") and her team of agents. Separated, Hanna must embark on a treacherous trek across Europe to reunite with her father, take down those who target them and ultimately crack an ever-deepening conspiracy that threatens them both. All the while navigating the perils of adolescence as someone accustomed to the cruelty of nature but not of society.

"It highlights the kind of humanness in all of us and the animal in all of us ...," Creed-Miles explained to a recent gathering of journalists in Pasadena, Calif. "And further to that point, she's grown up completely absolved of modern convention and of the male gaze. So, she has a very interesting take on gender and love and sex, and all of this stuff that you then see how that unfolds and influences her relationships with other people in the modern world. So, as a young woman myself, it was a fantastic opportunity for 12, 13 hours of the day to be as raw as I could possibly be without any of that kind of internalized misogyny that I feel I have to unpackage all the time."

The series is based on the 2011 feature film from director Joe Wright that starred, among others, Cate Blanchett as a sinister, darkly humorous Marissa, a portrayal Enos said she purposely avoided.

"This version of the story isn't a fairytale and I'm not the wicked witch," Enos says. "I'm a fully dimensional person who has done terrible things in my past and then has worked meticulously to hide those things and has built a lovely life for myself. And when Hanna comes out of the forest, she threatens to like blow the lid off of that. So, my Marissa is an intelligent, capable woman who's trying to quell something that could devastate her life. And of course, my hope is that everyone will feel very sorry for me."

Esme Creed-Miles stars in "Hanna," which begins streaming Friday on Amazon.

WE ARE BAYONNE

At the recent ceremony for the 150th anniversary of the City of Bayonne, I read out the following reflections about our community.

We are Bergen Point, Constable Hook, Centerville, Salterville, Pamrapo, the East Side, and the West Side. We are Bayonne.

We are Shooters Island, Robbins Reef, Paradise Beach, and the Long Docks. We are Bayonne.

We are Newark Bay, New York Bay, the Kill Van Kull, Platty Kill, and the Morris Canal. We are Bayonne.

We began with the Native Americans. Then came the Europeans, the Africans, the Latin Americans, the Middle Easterners, the South Asians, and the East Asians. We are Bayonne.

We eat pizza, kielbasa, pasta, stuffed grape leaves, kugel, rice, beans, chicken, and Judicke's sprinkled doughnuts. We are Bayonne.

We have seen George Washington, Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin Roosevelt, Sargent Shriver, and Eamon DeValera come to our town. We are Bayonne.

We have given the world the first rock band, diners, petroleum, castor oil, Maidenform bras, Elco PT Boats, silent movies, and pickles. We are Bayonne.

We shovel snow in the winter, collect leaves in the autumn, plant trees in the spring, and cut grass in the summer. We are Bayonne.

We are the hometown of George R.R. Martin, Chuck Wepner, Joe Borowski, Rich Dimler, Sandra Dee, Frank Langella, Tammy Blanchard, Barney Frank, and Steve Roberts. Shaquille O'Neal lived here and Ed McMahon, too. We are Bayonne.

We played stickball with a spaldeen. We sat on the front stoop. We slid down the sliding pond. We skated on the Killy Pond. We are Bayonne.

We had a coal port. We had a Navy base that became an Army base. We have a cruise port and the Coast Guard. We are Bayonne.

We started two-way police radios and walkie-talkies. We are Bayonne.

We had dairy farms, made wooden boats, and dug for clams. Now we take Light Rail, post on Facebook, and eat at Asian restaurants. We are Bayonne.

We are a strong breeze from Newark Bay, the swift current of the Kill Van Kull, and the salt air from New York Bay. We are Bayonne.

We hear train whistles in the night, boat horns by day, and airplanes from Newark Airport. We are Bayonne.

We are baseball, football, basketball, soccer, rugby, cricket, and swimming. We are Bayonne.

We have cats, dogs, sycamore trees, squirrels, crabs, Canada geese, and numerous kinds of birds. We are Bayonne.

We are the church bake sale, Oneg Shabbat at the temple, and the Ramadan celebration. We are Bayonne.

We have the PAL, the Jewish Community Center, the Bayonne Family Community Center, and the Knights of Columbus. We are Bayonne.

We have the Bayonne Bridge, the Turnpike's Newark Bay Bridge, and the 63rd Street Railroad Bridge. We are Bayonne.

We have Avenues A through J. We had Avenues K through W. There are streets that are yet to be. We are Bayonne.

We had vaudeville and the opera house. Now we have cable and satellite TV. We are Bayonne.

We had Standard Oil, Texaco, and Tidewater Oil. We had Babcock and Wilcox, Jones and Laughlin Steel, Underwood Typewriter, Pacific Coast Borax, Centaur and Nestor Studios. We are Bayonne.

We are tied together by family, friendship, clubs, sports, businesses, unions, the past, the present, and the future. We are Bayonne.

Spring has sprung – time to revamp the menu

In case you missed it spring arrived last week, bringing with it the anticipation of warmer weather, increased daylight, decreased heating bills and more time outdoors.

For the home chef, it also means turning over the family menu to include lighter fare, including more fruits and vegetables – and preferably not of the root variety. So if you're looking for some new ideas and flavors, just turn on your laptop and check out these videos and recipes from the Food Network website.

Spring means fresher vegetables and fruits as produce increasingly comes from local sources. In "Spring Produce Guide" (www.foodnetwork.com/recipes/packages/spring-produce-guide), viewers will find a bounty of information, such as Alex Guarnaschelli's how-to's on selecting it, cooking with herbs and uses for spring greens. There are also plenty of recipes, such as Rachael Ray's green salad with strawberry balsamic vinaigrette, Anne Burrell's strawberryhubarb crisp, and Ted Allen's primavera with prosciutto, asparagus and carrots. Yum!

If you're looking ahead to planning a spring dinner party or cookout, Food's "Spring Entertaining Guide" (www.foodnetwork.com/holidays-and-parties/packages/spring-entertaining-guide) has plenty of ideas for dishes that are sure to impress your guests. The offerings range from Giada de Laurentiis' beet and goat cheese arugula salad and Tyler Florence's "ultimate" paella to Ina Garten's spring green risotto and the mascarpone and lemon gnoc-chi, a joint Garten/de Laurentiis production. There is even a section for drinks and cocktails, which include the cucumber-gin spritzer, the sparkling sidecar (orange liqueur, cognac and lemon juice) and the cool rhuby cordial, made with frozen strawberries, rhubarb, cognac, ice cream and vodka. Decadent and delicious.

During the week, you'll undoubtedly want to spruce up the nightly selection as well, and the section titled "Spring Weeknight Dinners" (www.foodnetwork.com/in-seasonnow/packages/weeknight-dinners-spring) has ideas to do just that. Here, you'll find entries such as Melissa d'Arabian's orzo with thyme and lemon zest, de Laurentiis' selection of six spring salads, Sunny Anderson's ground chicken chicken tacos with creamy salsa, d'Arabian's salmon cakes and Burrell's grilled salmon with herb and Meyer lemon compound butter. All dishes created with the working person in mind.

Of course, if none of the above intrigue your palate, both the Food Network and Cooking Channel (www.cookingchannel.com) websites offer up a library's worth of food knowledge, from recipes and cooking how-to's to drink and wine selection, all in the interest of making what seems difficult simple.

The only thing limiting you is your willingness to give it a try.

IN FOCUS

"Killing Eve" (BBC America — season premiere, April 7)

This offbeat, character-driven thriller returns for Season 2 (simulcast on AMC), picking up the action just seconds after Season 1 ended. Villanelle (Jodie Comer), the psychopathic assassin, has fled, leaving Eve (Sandra Oh) with no idea whether the woman she stabbed is alive or dead. Both women are in serious trouble unless they can reconnect, but others are in pursuit as well. Joining the cast this season are Nina Sosanya, Edward Bluemel and Julian Barratt.

IN FOCUS

"The Show Must Go On: The Queen + Adam Lambert Story" (ABC — new special, April 29)

They stopped the show on February's Oscars telecast as soon as it started with their spirited musical opener, and now Adam Lambert and Queen reconnect for this two-hour documentary that charts their journey together, starting with an episode of "American Idol" in 2009. In the years since, Lambert has enjoyed the heady experience of taking center stage with the band as its frontman, a spot once filled unforgettably by Freddie Mercury.

TV Talk/Week of March 23- March 29, 2019

IN FOCUS

"Property Brothers: Forever Home" (HGTV — series premiere, May 29)

Jonathan and Drew Scott have years of experience renovating properties for their clients but in this new series the homeowners' roots are firmly planted and they don't want to relocate. In these cases, houses were purchased with high hopes but time and cost have prevented big dreams from becoming reality. The brothers take the families on tours of nearby renovated homes to help them find inspirations for their own spaces that will also fit their budget.

SOAP UPDATES

By Dana Block

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL Sally made a comment to Wyatt about both Hope and Flo giving birth during the same time period, but neither going home with a baby. Zoe flipped out when she learned about Flo and Wyatt's past connection. Wyatt assured Sally about his love for her and his commitment to reviving Spectra Fashions. Steffy made a stunning revelation to Liam and Hope about her plans for the future. Donna and Justin went about matchmaking for Bill and Katie. Taylor urged Steffy to fight for Liam. Bill and Katie realized they'd been set up for lunch. The Spencers and Logans reunited when Thomas returned home with his son, Douglas. Wait to See: Sally apologizes to Thomas for their split.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES John was horrified when he discovered that Marlena was unconscious. Sonny and Will celebrated a new change in events. Brady warned Rex that Eric had a history of breaking up couples. Stefan and Chloe bonded over their similar upbringings. Diana went to the hospital to comfort John. JJ urged Haley to let him help her. Tripp questioned Claire on how authorities knew where Haley was hiding. Leo surprised Brady with the news that they were brothers. John was stunned when a nurse claimed that Kristen was the one who tried to kill Marlena. Sarah impulsively kissed Eric. Leo offered to make a deal with Stefan. Wait to See: Marlena's condition begins to decline. GENERAL HOSPITAL Joss took the blame for someone else. Sonny's good deed paid off. Sasha had a warning for Valentin. Obrecht denied any wrongdoing. Brad and Willow argued. Jason and Drew connected the dots. Ava was a mess and got confrontational. Franco offered his support. Cameron was apologetic. Laura tried her best to understand. Kim wasn't interested in Shiloh's help. Molly was greatly concerned. Michael got pulled into an argument. Jason reassured Molly. Alexis needed more time. Valentin refused to share. Anna received a surprise visitor. Sonny was willing to die for those he loved. Wait to See: Michael takes Mike out for barbecue.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS Ana pressured Devon into listening to her new songs immediately because she needed to make money. A worried Devon investigated Ana's finances, and was shocked to find she had been lying about being in debt. They argued and then apologized, but Devon's distrust lingered. Jack and Billy moved forward with their plan to seize power from Phyllis, especially now that they knew they had Kerry as their double agent. Phyllis fell right into a trap by confiding in Kerry. Mariah and Tessa's worst fears were realized when Tessa was arrested for her blackmail confession. A furious Mariah confronted Nick over Tessa's arrest. Victoria, Nikki and Sharon waited anxiously for news of their sentencing, but were comforted by visits from their ex-husbands. Wait to See: Christine questions Rey's motives.

HOLLYWOOD

By Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — J.J. Abrams has completed filming Episode IX in the Luke Skywalker "Star Wars" saga. George Lucas first conceived chapters 4-6 in 1977 and always intended they'd be followed by the prequels 1-3, and finally three sequels, episodes 7-9. But after the first six films from 20th Century Fox, Disney became the new owner, Lucas bowed out and Abrams took the reins. The final episode of George Lucas' "Stars Wars" baby premieres Dec. 20, more than 42 years after the original.

Wasikowska and Robert Pattinson, because of schedule conflicts. He's been replaced by Sebastian Stan — Bucky Barnes/Winter Soldier in "Captain America: Winter Soldier" and "Civil War," "First Avenger," "Ant Man," "Black Panther" and "Avengers: Infinity War." Instead, Evans is taking second billing to Daniel Craig (007) in the mystery crime film "Knives Out," also with Michael Shannon, Don Johnson, Jamie Lee Curtis, Toni Collette and Christopher Plummer, due in theaters Nov. 27.

Ben Affleck

Also done and shedding his cowl is Ben Affleck, who has decided not to continue as Batman in the Marvel Universe after playing the caped crusader in "Batman v Superman," "Suicide Squad" and "The Justice League." Already mentioned in dream casting to replace him are Jake Gyllenhaal, Jon Hamm, Robert Pattinson, Kit Harington, Ryan Gosling, Josh Brolin, Matthew Goode, Richard Armitage, Josh Harnett, Keanu Reeves and Armie Hammer. To give themselves more time to nail down a new Batman, the next film will be a prequel with 18-year-old "Gotham" Bruce Wayne, David Mazouz (who has played Batman's alter ego since 2014), for a June 2021 opening.

Also changing his life is superstar Robert Redford, who retired from acting after "The Old Man and the Gun" (which grossed only $15 million), with Sissy Spacek and Casey Affleck. He's also retired from his work of 34 years at Sundance Institute. Redford turned a piece of property in Park City, Utah, into a resort and founded the largest independent film festival in the U.S., which showcases films for distributors to buy and is attended by 50,000 people annually. I met Redford in 1961, when he was on Broadway in "Little Moon of Alban," with Julie Harris. In the many times I've run into him he's always treated me like a long-lost friend. His work at the Sundance Institute has done so much to advance the independent film industry. In 2009 he wed long-time girlfriend Sibylle Szaggers, and at 82 years young it's time for him to start a new phase of his life. Park City is an Eden, and Adam and Eve have found their paradise. ... You've earned your new life, old friend!
