PBS' 'Tiananmen: The People Versus the Party' recalls an epic massacre 30 years later

By George Dickie

Probably the most enduring image of the 1989 Tiananmen Square uprising is of a single young man standing defiantly in front of a tank brought in to crush student protests.

"Tiananmen: The People Versus the Party" premieres Tuesday on PBS (check local listings).

But to the people of Beijing and all over China who are old enough to remember, the massacre of hundreds if not thousands of students and ordinary citizens demonstrating for democracy and a voice in their government is the single-most defining event of their lives, a trauma that lives with them to this day. Their 9/11.

The story of those seven weeks that culminated with the bloody June 3 and 4 crackdown by Chinese troops is told in "Tiananmen: The People Versus the Party," premiering Tuesday, June 25, on PBS (check local listings). Using archival Chinese TV footage, interviews with insiders and key figures and eyewitness accounts, the two-hour documentary lays out in detail how a series of peaceful demonstrations could slowly escalate into epic bloodshed that scarred a generation.

"This both a human story and a universal story," says Ian MacMillan, the film's director. "This is a story just about ordinary people wanting a decent life for themselves and being prepared to try and speak out about that. And this being a story that is based in China but actually could be a story that applies to unfortunately ... many parts of the world that we live in today. And ... my hope is that people see it not as a story that's just about a particular moment in Chinese history but about the idea of people being allowed to have the kind of life and the kind of society that they want themselves and their children to grow up in."

Sadly, as history tells us, their efforts did little to change things. Business continued as usual in China, democracy didn't happen and all evidence of the massacre was wiped away. Today, the events of 30 years ago still go unacknowledged by the Chinese government and just about anyone born after that is unaware of it.

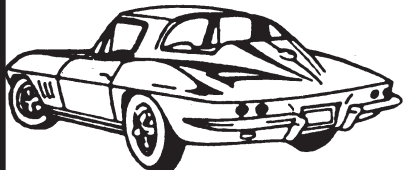

But as MacMillan says, the story isn't over — if world history is any guide.

"What it achieved was such a sowing of seeds for what will be an inevitable change at some point ...," he says. "It happened in the Soviet Union, it happened across the Eastern Bloc. And yes, the oppression is incredibly severe but at some point they will be the semi-forgotten but not forgotten spark that will ignite something in the future."

Food knowledge and laughs are bountiful on Netflix's 'The Chef Show'

After collaborating on the 2014 feature film "Chef," actor/director Jon Favreau and chef Roy Choi knew they wanted to work together again. They just didn't know on what.

Restaurants, pop-ups, writing a book – all of that was bandied about but nothing hit the mark. But the two pals knew they had chemistry together and wanted to do something with it. And from that, "The Chef Show" was born.

The half-hour series that's currently streaming on Netflix finds the two men in different places around the country, vibing off each other as they experiment with recipes for everything from a vegetarian pepper pot and grilled cheese sandwiches to a smoked brisket and kimchi. As they go to locations in Los Angeles, Texas and Atlanta, among others, they invite guest stars including Gwyneth Paltrow, Robert Downey Jr., Tom Holland and comedian Bill Burr to join them in the kitchen to cook, eat, learn and laugh – just like a bunch of friends hanging out.

"I think both of us just want people to feel good and smile," Choi explains. "... Sometimes for me, the best moments in life are when you're sitting with someone you really care about and you don't have to say anything and those moments can just be there where they're not forced. And I want this show to feel like that ... like it's enough that you can just watch it for 30 minutes or so and just feel good and learn something and smile and laugh and just feel like we're on the couch together. And then hopefully, maybe even get up and go cook."

That feel-good vibe was evident in the opening episode, in which Choi and Favreau discuss the finer points of making a grilled cheese sandwich with Burr. The food knowledge is plentiful and both Favreau and Burr clearly have kitchen skills but the joking among the three men is what makes the segment.

"That was fun, man," Choi says with a laugh. "Bill spent the whole day with us and just had us cracking up the whole time. And it's great when I see Jon around other comedians because I know Jon is a very multifaceted artist. ... I love seeing him around other comedians because comedians are so quick so it's like he gets right into that mode ... and it was like eight hours of that s..., man, and it was crazy. My face hurt after filming that one."

And alongside two stand-up comics, Choi managed to hold his own. "Because I have the camera and apron," he says. "The apron is like my armor in the kitchen; I have the kitchen and the apron and so once I'm in that mode, I'm fine. It's like being a DJ at a party. If you took that away from me, I'm like the most awkward dude at a party. But when I put the apron on and I'm in control, I can hold my own with anybody."

Film About Bayonne 150 Celebrations to Debut at Library on June 27

Mayor Jimmy Davis announced that a film about the City of Bayonne's 150th anniversary celebrations will debut at the Bayonne Public Library's second floor gallery on Thursday, June 27, at 7:00 p.m. Celebrating Bayonne's 150th Anniversary was made by two retired HBO broadcast craftsmen, Charles Marsella, director, and Lenny Davidowitz, director of photography. Mr. Marsella is a Bayonne resident and an Emmy Award winner. Mr. Davidowitz is also a New Jersey resident and an Emmy Award winner. Mr. Davidowitz is the owner of LAT Productions. Mr. Marsella said, "We had great fun making this documentary, which celebrates Bayonne's past and present. We look forward to sharing it with the entire community on June 27."

The film was produced with the support of the City of Bayonne. The thirty-nine minute documentary includes highlights from the Bayonne 150 celebration at the library on March 9, the portrait unveiling ceremony and concert at City Hall on April 11, and the food truck festival on Avenue E on May 18. Musical highlights from all three events include songs by the Bee's Knees, the Bayonne High School Honor Choir, the Bee Sharps Alumni, and the Nerds. The movie also features interviews with current and former City officials, local historians, New Jersey's Official Town Crier, and Bayonne residents who participated in the three events. There is also footage of sights and sounds from around the community.

This film event is free and open to the public. The library is located at 31st Street and Avenue C. For anyone who is unable to attend the screening of the documentary, a link to the film is available on Youtube: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jRFQ-58-77Y>

Chef/Owner Yi

The business is named for its owner and head chef, Yi (Yi is a nickname). The manager of the store is his efficient and confident wife, Zara Wang, who holds a B.A. degree in International Business. This couple is living the "American Dream" raising two charming daughters and realizing the materialization of their passion to serve. They are devoted to working diligently toward improving their business and providing their customers with the very best in quality food. The story of Yi is quite impressive. Zara talks about her husband with great respect as she tells his story and shares his ideas and goals. He worked for eighteen (18) years in some of the finest restaurants in Las Vegas, Nevada and on the upper east side of Manhattan. He had a dream that one day he would open his own sushi business and make a fine sushi product available and affordable to the average person and working people whose budgets were not as extravagant as wealthy people. He sincerely wants to offer all his customers cuisine what will meet all their needs.

Are you a Vegan? Are you Diabetic? Are you dieting? Do you have special needs? Tell Yi Sushi Go and they will accommodate you. Were you under the

SOAP UPDATES

By Dana Block

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL Flo attempted to justify her actions to a horrified Thomas. Zoe and Xander argued about Beth's rightful place. Thomas went over to his sister's house to tell her the heartbreaking news about Beth, but after hearing what Steffy had to say first, he was left conflicted. Zoe feared that she was going to end up in jail for her part in her father's scheme. Wyatt walked in on the intense meeting between Flo and Zoe. Hope shared with Douglas that Liam had moved out. Later, she told Brooke why she ended her marriage so abruptly. Ridge was happy for Steffy, but worried about what Brooke was thinking. Meanwhile, Brooke grew concerned when Hope asked Liam to send her pictures of the babies. Flo was surprised by Thomas's advice. Wait to See: Brooke's mama-bear instincts emerge.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES Nicole accused Eric of attacking her. Maggie bonded with someone unexpected. Julie blasted Jack and Eve. Stefan ripped into Gabi for causing his breakup with Chloe. A fearful Claire realized that the walls were closing in on her. Ben had a shocking realization. Jack offered JJ a deal. Will and Sonny faced Will's mortality. Ben desperately searched for Claire. In a fit of rage, Claire tried to kill Tripp and Haley. John informed Sonny of his suspicions about Eve. Eli broke up with Lani. Wait to See: Sonny demands Eve surrender the diary.

Pierson Fode stars as "Thomas" on "The Bold and The Beautiful."

GENERAL HOSPITAL Shiloh turned on the charm. Chase stayed on the right side of the law. Carly met with Lucas. Nina cajoled Ava. Bobbie got some good news. Michael tried to support Willow. Julian reminded Brad to keep calm. Sonny stumbled upon Lulu, who was out with another man. Carly was stunned. Shiloh ran into Margaux. THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS Rey grew frustrated with Sharon constantly defending Adam. However, when Nick arrived to tell them about Adam's latest plot, she was forced to admit that Adam seemed to have returned to the dark side. Kyle and Lola told Rey they were engaged and asked for his blessing. Jack and Traci tried to help Dina adjust to life in the nursing home, with Jack making more time to spend with his mother, and Traci sharing her new novel with her. Despite her fading memory, Dina was comforted by their efforts. Devon and Elena continued to grow closer as they sent Jett off on tour. Victor filed a lawsuit against the GCPD, which enraged Christine. Wait to See: Billy loses his cool.

HOLLYWOOD — There could have been a season 13 and 14 of "The Big Bang Theory," but CBS overplayed its hand. At the beginning of season 11, CBS announced there would be only two more seasons of the hit show. Apparently, star Jim Parsons took them at their word. He returned to Broadway in "The Boys in the Band," and played Larry Simpson to Zac Efron's Ted Bundy in "Extremely Wicked, Shockingly Evil and Vile" for Netflix. By the time CBS decided to go for seasons 13 and 14, Parsons had moved on to other projects. Even though he still narrates "Young Sheldon," which is a big hit, he must have some major plans, because even the alleged $50 million he would have earned for two more seasons couldn't change his mind. His estimated net worth is $100 million ... Bazinga!

Not long ago we told you that "Twilight" star Robert Pattinson needed a hit movie to make a comeback from a string of less than successful films. He may have found that vehicle in the dark black and white fantasy horror film "The Light House," with Willem Dafoe, which was well-received at the Cannes Film Festival.

Mel Gibson is back in a big way. He's completed directing the sci-fi thriller "Boss Level," with Frank Grillo and Naomi Watts, and began filming "The Passion of the Christ: Resurrection," the sequel to "The Passion of the Christ" (the 2004 film that grossed $612 million). Jim Caviezel returns in the title role for an Easter 2020 release. But even more ambitious is Mel's plan to remake Sam Peckinpah's all-star 1969 classic "The Wild Bunch." So far he's roped in Michael Fassbender,

Jamie Foxx and Peter Dinklage, late of "Game of Thrones."

Not long ago we told you that "Twilight" star Robert Pattinson needed a hit movie to make a comeback from a string of less than successful films. He may have found that vehicle in the dark black and white fantasy horror film "The Light House," with Willem Dafoe, which was well-received at the Cannes Film Festival.

If that doesn't do the trick, he's also completed "The King," with Timothee Chalamet and Joel Edgerton, for Netflix; "Waiting for the Barbarians," with Johnny Depp and Mark Rylance; and "The Devil All the Time," with Riley Keough, Tom Holland and Sebastian Stan, also for Netflix. Now Pattinson's just signed to star with Michael Caine, Kenneth Branagh and Aaron Taylor-Johnson for director Christopher Nolan in "Tenet," an action epic revolving around the world of espionage.

Nolan also wrote the screenplay. It's his first film since his epic Oscar nominee "Dunkirk."

Not to be outdone, Chris Hemsworth — riding the crest of "Avengers: Endgame," "Men in Black: International" (due June 14) and "Dhaka" for Netflix (which he also co-produced) — is wrestling with Tiffany Haddish in the mismatched buddy/cop comedy "Down Under Cover," that gets them hilariously into all kinds of trouble. If Hemsworth thinks he was upstaged in "Endgame" ... just wait!

TCM reopens the 'Disney Vault' for a night of treats

By Jay Bobbin

The Walt Disney Company certainly has enough of its own television outlets — which it increased recently by buying much of Fox — but Turner Classic Movies still favors the Disney studio's past.

Leonard Maltin hosts a night of "Treasures From the Disney Vault" Tuesday on Turner Classic Movies.

The film channel presents recurring "Treasures From the Disney Vault," with entire evenings of Disney titles as veteran movie historian and critic Leonard Maltin appears between the features with relevant facts. TCM has another such night Tuesday, June 25, merging several genres for which Disney is known best.

One is suspense, as indicated by the first movie in the lineup: "The Moon-Spinners" (1964), based on a Mary Stewart novel and casting Hayley Mills — who was one of the studio's top stars at the time — as an adventurous young visitor to Crete who's drawn into danger by a handsome stranger (Peter McEnery, who would be Disney's "Fighting Prince of Donegal" two years later). Eli Wallach also appears as a mysterious man who means trouble for Mills, setting up a memorable sequence in which she has to escape from an active windmill.

Suspense also plays into another 1964 Disney release that TCM will show overnight, "Emil and the Detectives." Also a Disney regular of that era, Bryan Russell plays Emil, a German youngster who is robbed during a bus trip and sets out to recover the stolen money ... leading him to a criminal known as The Baron (Walter Slezak) and a group of young amateur sleuths who help Emil.

The drama "The Littlest Horse Thieves" (1976) also relies heavily on youthful performers. Three early-20th-century British children (Andrew Harrison, Benjie Bolgar, Chloe Franks) unite to save ponies used to haul coal, but destined to be replaced by machines — and slaughtered.

Comedy has its places during the TCM Disney night, too. "The North Avenue Irregulars" (1979) casts Barbara Harris, Susan Clark, Karen Valentine and Cloris Leachman as church members who resort to unorthodox means — a.k.a. gambling — to replenish the new minister's (Edward Herrmann) fund. And later, "Never a Dull Moment" (1968) finds Disney favorite Dick Van Dyke as an actor mistaken for a murderer, with Edward G. Robinson cast to perfection as an underworld kingpin.

Another category for which Disney is renowned surely is animation, and the latest "Treasures From the Disney Vault" roster includes a couple of examples. "Bone Bandit" (1948) sets the beloved hound Pluto against a bothersome gopher, and "The Robber Kitten" (1935) is a "Silly Symphonies" entry about a runaway cat that messes with the wrong dog.

As the title of its weekly TV showcase used to suggest, Disney has put forth a wonderful world of entertainment, and TCM and "Treasures From the Disney Vault" are about to reaffirm that again.
